Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

TOO MUCH MARRYING.

There is altogether too much marrying, by forms of law, those who at the most are only a third or half married in other ways. And there is altogether too much urging and coaxing, and alluring young people into the most sacred and important human relations before they are prepared or moved to assume its burdens, and by those who ought to know better and act with more consideration. We make too much of marrying and being married, until it is thought by many people, somewhat of a disgrace for a woman to pass through life alone; when in fact the life of many a single woman is poetry, romance, rapture even, in comparison with that of many a wife. So there is a vast deal of marrying with very little of real marrying; a vast deal of discontent, heartache, misery, hypocrisy and unmarrying to the last. What we want is not a more stringent divorce law, but a better understanding of the moral law, which forbids the marrying of those not already one; not less marrying, but less marrying where there is no real marrying. And, above all, let there be no inciting or bribing those to marry who are not drawn to each other, and hold inseparably together by qualities of mind and soul.

WOMEN IN THE GARDEN.

However aghast some "fine ladies" may regard the idea of working in the garden, I consider it one of the most wholesome means of exercise within our reach. Wholesome, especially, because we have an object—and an interesting one in this exercise—which is the growth of flowers and plants. Before commencing work in the garden, put on a pair of worn-out leather gloves, a broad-brimmed sun hat, and a pair of good, stout boots; if not stout, then wear a pair of thin gum overshoes. The dampness of the soil is very liable to produce a "cold." Don't be afraid that the labor will hurt you, even if you should become very tired; on the contrary, it will strengthen you, give you rosy cheeks and may add years to your life. There is not a spring that I do not spend two weeks at least in the garden, and I tell you that there is nothing so agreeable, I may say fascinating; and this feeling is doubled when I see the fine flowers and good vegetables growing and put upon the table from my own handiwork.—Margaretta, in Germantown Telegraph.

MINES IN NEW ENGLAND.

A book issued in Boston sets forth the indications of the mineral districts of the Eastern States, claiming that lead and silver indications are found not alone in Newburyport, Mass. Beyond and into and through New Hampshire, it is asserted, and through Maine to Bangor, rich specimen rock has been found. In a southerly and westerly direction through Rowley, Georgetown and other towns in Massachusetts, to Wakefield, similar indications are common. In Vermont gold has been found in considerable quantities at Somerset, and the same formation, talcose slate, runs through Berkshire, Franklin and Hampshire counties, in Massachusetts. Lead ores, in which silver has been found to a greater or less extent, have been frequently met with in the Connecticut Valley. In New Hampshire, a very extensive gold field, known as Ammonoosuc, is located near Bellows Falls, and other sections of the State are rich in valuable minerals. Rhode Island has silver, lead, iron, copper and coal, but no gold indications have been seen. In Connecticut, lead, copper and silver are found, and in Maine, gold, silver and lead are met with in considerable quantities.

"CAPTAIN," said a son of Erin, as the ship was nearing the coast in inclement weather, "have ye an almenik on board?" "No, I haven't." "Thin, bejabbers, we shall have to take the weather as it comes."

A CRUEL joke at the expense of those ladies who are perpetually striving to gain a hearing in the Press, has been going the round of literary circles, to the effect "that they look much better in muslin than in print."

DECATUR, ILLINOIS:

Tuesday Evening, June 22.

A proposition before the Missouri constitutional convention to make all elections held in that State by viva voce, received considerable support, and was sustained by some very plausible arguments. It was contended by those who favored the scheme that its adoption would restore the security of the ballot box, do away with ballot box stuffing, and all other election frauds, and induce greater political independence on the part of the voters. The proposition was voted down by 58 to 18.

THE friends of Senator Thurman are said to be especially disgusted with the inflation plank of the Ohio Democratic platform, and do not conceal the belief that he might at least have procured its modification had he shown more boldness. Possibly; but the trouble is Senator Thurman has no boldness. He took an early stand in favor of specie resumption, not so much because he thought it was right as because he thought it would be popular with his party. When the current in Ohio set strongly against him he did as men of weak convictions always do, made but a feeble resistance, and finally humiliated himself by indorsing a platform which was intended to rebuke if not insult him. No matter how the election may go, the result will be equally fatal to Thurman's Presidential aspirations, and henceforth he may as well be counted out of the ring.

THE New York Graphic puts this construction upon the compact just entered into between President Garrett, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and Scott, of the Pennsylvania Road: "The agreement between Garrett and Scott does not end the railroad war. What it means is that Philadelphia and Baltimore have combined against New York. The secret clauses of the treaty are understood to be aimed against the New York Central and Erie. The two southern trunk roads propose to wage war upon New York City, through its railroads. The war, in the opinion of railroad men, has entered upon a new phase. Vanderbilt was studiously left out of the conference, as their intention is to injure his road. It is believed here in railroad circles that we are seeing the beginning of the end of the New York Central. It is supposed that the Erie will be sold out under the fifth mortgage bonds, and the stock wiped out, and that the road will enter the field stripped of all the stock encumbrances, and in a condition to assist in the attack upon the over-weighted and watered stock of the New York Central."

THE Philadelphia Times has had no friendship for the Republican party, and yet it observes, regarding the platform of the Ohio Democracy:

"The currency plank is one of those delightful compromises to which we have grown accustomed, that may mean anything, but may as safely be taken to mean nothing. They declare themselves in favor of "one currency," but whether it shall be of gold or paper—'you pays your money and you takes your choice.' Some of the other planks are a little more substantial, but for the most part they display a skill in evading issues quite equal to that of the Republican Convention a fortnight ago, and William Allen will have to 'rise up' with all his vigor if the campaign is to be fought on such ill defined lines as these.

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON expresses the opinion that the less the friends of any candidate for the Presidency press him upon the attention of the people, at present, the better it will be for the Republican party. This is true, and Mr. Wilson might also have said, the better it would be for the candidate also. If there is any one thing that is better calculated than all others to destroy the chances of a Presidential aspirant, it is the injudicious efforts of his friends to push him forward a year or two before the proper time. The man that comes in last will always escape the worst of the battle, while the man who is apparently the most popular on the start is the least likely to get the nomination. The more popular he is in fact, the more determined and united the friends of all the other candidates are to defeat him. In 1860, Secretary Seward, who had been held up as a candidate for a long time, and who apparently had almost a certainty of the nomination, was defeated by Abraham Lincoln, the man of all others whom Seward's friends feared the least. If the various candidates are wise, they will hold their friends back for some months, at least, and thus improve their own chances and avoid the danger of disruption in the party. There will be time enough when the call for the convention is issued for the interests of particular candidates to be worked up. There is fortunately no lack of good timber in the Republican party, and the man who gets the nomination must be a good one indeed.

JOHN M. LANGSTON.

Everybody has heard of John M. Langston, the colored orator, now dean of the law department of Howard University, at Washington. A correspondent of the New York Evening Post has gathered some interesting details, from which it appears that his mother, the daughter of an Indian and a negro, was pawned for a large sum of money by a Mississippian to a Virginia planter, and, the pledge never being redeemed, she became the property of the latter. Langston is the son of this slave and this planter. The man atoned to the woman so far as to direct, on his death bed, that when she died she should be buried by his side, and to emancipate for her sake not only herself and her children, but all of her race whom he held in bondage. She survived her master only a month, and Langston, then five years old, for whose education his father had amply provided, was taken to Chillicothe, Ohio, to some white friends of his father, where he passed as their child until he was thirteen years old. Then, his guardian desiring to go to Mississippi, the boy was removed from his care, the freed negroes formerly belonging to his father and settled in the neighborhood insisting that he should not be taken to a slave State. In the ensuing lawsuit a friendship grew up between Langston and Senator Thurman, then a young lawyer, that no subsequent differences have ever severed. After graduating at Oberlin and practicing successfully at the Ohio bar, he returned to his native State, for the first time, in the Republican campaign of 1867. Bound by association to the whites, allied by sympathy to the blacks, a fluent speaker and an ardent Republican, his political services in that region were very valuable, while the cordial, social recognition extended him by his father's family, pleased him more than his success. There, on the old plantation, he saw the little burial lot where a master and his slave—his father and mother—lie; and in the decent care which marked both graves he saw with gratitude that the memory of his father was green among the friends who forgave the sins which were of the times and loved the virtues which were the man's.

PROBABLY the most contemptible political scalawag in the State of Ohio to-day, is the man that the Democrats have nominated for Lieut. Governor, Gen. S. F. Cary. Gen. Cary first became known to the public as a temperance lecturer, and in this field he achieved a distinction that few men have enjoyed in this country. Like Horace Greeley, he used to consider Democracy and whisky synonymous terms. A few years since, however, he got a notion into his head that he would like to go to Congress, and by claiming to be a great friend to the working men he succeeded in securing the election. In Congress he distinguished himself in nothing, except that he sold out to the Democracy, and acted with that party. When his term of office was out he was allowed to remain at home, where he has ever since been a beggar for a nomination for some office at the hands of the Democratic party, and at last he has gained a place on the ticket, although he wanted to be the head of the ticket. He still professes to be a temperance man, notwithstanding he is running upon a platform one plank of which denounces in the most unmeasured terms the temperance legislation for which he was in his better days, perhaps, the most eloquent and earnest advocate. He has been an Abolitionist, Republican, Liberal, Reformer, and now turns up a full-fledged Democrat, "with all that that term implies." It will be amusing to see whisky men of Ohio voting and shouting for Sam Cary, the great apostle of temperance, but not more amusing than it will be to see Sam Cary going back upon the principles of a life-time and hobnobbing with the saloon rats that so largely make up the Democratic party of Ohio.

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 21.—The most terrific storm since 1844, visited this section Sunday night, commencing about 9 o'clock and continued four hours. The rain poured down in torrents and was accompanied by hailstones and thunder and lightning. Several houses in the city were struck by lightning and several unroofed. Immense damage has been done to the streets; and cellars are filled.

The storm extended over the country for an area of fifty miles south and southwest. The damage to farmers was very great by the overflow of bottom lands and the destruction of crops and fences. The railroads suffered severely by the loss of bridges. No trains arrived to-day except on the Hannibal & St. Joseph and North Missouri. The few grasshoppers remaining are entirely exterminated

Walter Delahunty having been "squelched out" by both fire and water, from the dilapidated shanty, on East Main street, east of the telegraph office, has associated with him in business Mr John McMahon, (formerly with Armstrong), and the new firm may be found on the northwest corner of the old square, second story, sign of the big boot. Another Day of Beach.

And Another Juror Rebels.

The Strike in Chicago.

Moody and Sankey in Trouble

Their Meetings Discussed in the House of Lords.

A Terrific Storm.

NEW YORK, June 21.—More than the customary crowd attended the Beecher trial this morning. Beach continued his argument in vindication of Moulton's conduct with regard to the letters. Tracy says of Moulton that to promote the cause of christianity, in which he did not believe, he had been leading a life of lies, and divided his wife's kisses with a prostitute. An attack of this kind, said Beach, could not be tolerated, and no man who stood such an attack as this could belong to the profession to which they belonged, and the worst of this attack was that it was not his own production. He read it like a school boy who had imperfectly learned his lesson This from a man who had given his oath of honor not to appear against the plaintiff.

There was another witness of the confessions of defendant, a woman who had been eulogized by Beecher in his letters, and the question is, was she to be believed. This woman had been charged by Porter in his defense as a conspiratress and consorting with prostitutes, making her house their rendezvous, and exposing her son to their influence. It was not bad enough to include Tilton and Moulton in this category, but they could not stop until they had included his mother and also his friends. Porter charged that Mrs. Moulton was a perjurer and not to be believed. Had not the other side endeavored to show witnesses that Mrs. Moulton's stories were not to be credited?

The very serious charge was brought in the outset against Mrs. Moulton, and raised by Shearman, that when on the stand she did not once look in the face of Evarts, and Evarts himself said her glances were furtive. But she had not that gift of dramatic effect possessed by Bessie Turner and Beecher. Perhaps she saw nothing very attractive in the face of Evarts. Beach here cited passages from Beecher's letters where he spoke highly of Mrs. Moulton, whose advice, Beach said, in regard to confession appealed to Beecher's cooler judgment, as shown by his letters.

Beach argued that this was the only way Beecher could escape, and it was sound advice. The credibility of Mrs. Moulton's statement was placed on the date fixed for her remarkable interview with Beecher. The latter says he was not at her house that day. Counsel quoted from the opinion of the Chief Justice, in the Webster case, on proving an alibi, and on Beecher's evidence on his whereabouts on that day (June 2d), he argued that, between the interview with Kinsella, at 9 or 10 o'clock, and the time he left the city, there was abundant time for a two hours' interview with Mrs. Moulton; and, as to the length of her interview, Mrs. Moulton might easily be mistaken. And moreover, Kinsella was not produced to substantiate Beecher's statement, but instead, Evarts read an editorial from the Eagle and attempted to blind the jury as to what Kinsella knew of it Counsel cited the evidence of Mr. Jones, who saw Beecher going towards Moulton's house on the day in question.

Recess.

After recess Beach continued his argument on the failure of the defense to prove an alibi. He took occasion to refer again to the juror who had said that Beecher was too great a man to fall, and also to the influences that were thrown around the jury to bias their verdict. He urged that however influenced the jury might be, they owed it to humanity to acquit Mrs. Moulton of the terrible charge made against her, and save her child from disgrace, even though the guilty Beecher be overthrown at the same time. Counsel refuted the idea that Tilton condoning his wife's offense was worthy of reprobation if he believed her soul pure and guiltless. It was his christian duty to forgive and condone, even as though her body had been forced This was the example of our Savior followed by Tilton. It was not, moreover, in the nature of manhood to finally reject the wife's appeal for herself and children When the term condonation by Beecher was used, it was a substantial confession of guilt; it was a notable event that when Tilton appeared in Plymouth Church, when the question arose whether he had slandered his pastor, and in the face of the church arose and challenged investigation. It would seem that then was the time for injured innocence to stand up, in the person of Henry Ward Beecher, and clear himself. Would he not have done so had he been innocent? But Beecher, who was so proud to-day, when confronted by Tilton there, slunk from the issue. "I have no charge to make," said Mr. Beecher. Why was it that this matter was not then examined when the circumstances were favorable for settling it? Counsel then quoted from Tilton's testimony in regard to Beecher's telling him of Mrs. Hooker threatening to tell the members of Plymouth Church from the pulpit of his relations with Mrs. Tilton. Beecher didn't contradict this story, and according to that evidence Beecher was guilty, for, by Evarts theory, they might say "false in one point, false in all." Beach asked the jury, if they didn't believe there was the slightest impropriety towards this lady on the part of Beecher, what a thing for an innocent man to do—to offer to "step down and out," and to prepare his resignation at the demand of a villain. Was the proposition advanced to twelve honest and intelligent men that there was not the slightest taint of guilt about him? If innocent, why forsake his duties and pulpit?—If the jury dealt with this fact to the advantage of Beecher, they would have an inconceivable power of logic. Beach then referred to those letters called clandestine, and which, he said, proved Beecher's guilt. He encouraged that too warm affection which, according to his own evidence, he knew she had for him.

The sixth juror, George Hull, here expressed disapprobation at the manner in which the counsel had made undue reflections on the jury, and said the jury had several times to sit and hear these reflections, and complained that it was too bad, besides being kept away from their homes for six months to have to listen to insinuations of the counsel. The fact was, the jury had not been approached except by means of envelopes, producing one enclosing cuttings from the New York Sun.

Judge Neilson said the juror misunderstood counsel's remarks in the heat of debate.

Mr. Beach remarked that he had good reason to believe members of the jury had been approached, and would present them at another time. He made no imputation against any juryman. Mr. Abbott protested against the unprofessional mode in which these statements had been put forward. Shearman also challenged the gentleman to produce his proofs then and there [Some hisses by the audience.] Beach replied that Shearman spoke without knowledge, inasmuch as parties in sympathy with the defendant could easily use money for purposes not known to him. He repeated that he had not charged any of the jury until he was called out by that appeal of the juryman's. He would be sorry if he had said anything offensive to the jurymen, or done anything to injure the cause of his client, for that he would have no right to do, but as they had been challenged, he would now ask his Honor to name time and place for the production of his proofs.

Judge Neilson suggested that the proper time would be at the close of the case, when somebody would have to be punished.

The matter was then dropped and the court adjourned.

CHICAGO, June 21.—In accordance with the resolution passed on Saturday by the common Council, Mayor Colvin, to-day appointed a committee of seven to make thorough examination of the new Custom House, and to report in writing to the Council who will forward, the document to Washington, as the expression of the Chicago experts on the character of the building

CHICAGO, June 21.—The strike at the North Chicago Rolling Mill continues. The 58 engineers remain firm in their determination, and in consequence the 1,500 men employed there are for the most part idle. The new hands employed are simply keeping up the blast.

The forthcoming city directory will have, according to the announcement of the title page, 146,000 names.

LONDON, June 21.—There is great excitement at Eton over the Moody and Sankey affair. A protest against their proposed visit has been signed by 650 boys, and a memorial in favor of it received 300 signatures.

LONDON, June 21.—In the House of Lords to-day the Marquis of Bath asked Baron Lyttleton, one of the Governors of Eton College, whether it was true that the head master and Governors had given their sanction to the students attending the meetings contemplated by Moody and Sankey.

Lord Lyttleton replied that the Governors would consider the matter to-morrow.

Lord Overton deprecated the attendance of students at such meetings.

In the House of Commons Captain Baillie Cochrane gave notice that he should ask Gladstone whether he gave Moody a letter of introduction to the authorities at Eton.

THE reform Democrats of the Connecticut legislature are howling about the exorbitant fares charged by the railroads, yet have passed a bill providing that mileage for members shall be computed at fifty cents per mile each way by the nearest railroad or stage line from the center of their respective towns to Hartford This amounts to $1 per mile, while the railroads charge about three cents per mile each way. There is Democratic reform most beautifully illustrated.

THREATENING TO KILL.

People vs. Mary West.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Montaine, being stimulated by a spirit of revenge, went before Justice Hughes and swore out a warrant against Mrs. Wheat West, charging her with making threats to kill the complainant. After a good deal of changing venue, etc., the case came up before 'Squire Albert for trial, C. C. McComas appearing for the people, and Thomas Lee, Esq., for the defendant.—Nine witnesses were examined, and the time of the court was occupied for upwards of two hours to discover that the women had had no more difficulty than excited and angry females usually do. Threats were made by both parties, and the 'Squire could not see that there was enough convicting testimony to justify him in binding the defendant over to the next term of circuit court. He therefore gave Mrs. West her liberty, first making her promise that she would move out of the house she now occupies with Mrs. Montaine. By getting the exasperated females parted the Justice hopes that all cause for strife and contention between them will be removed.

Shot Himself. This morning a telegram was received by John Trowbridge stating that his son Stephen had shot himself in the head with a revolver, near Terre Haute, Ind. The dispatch gave no particulars, but it has since been ascertained that the cause for his shooting himself was that a girl to whom he was betrothed, and whom he loved most devotedly, had jilted him at the instigation of her parents, who would not permit young Trowbridge to see their daughter. He tried all means, but seeing them unyielding and determined in their purpose, he finally gave away to despair, and shot himself this morning. As yet it is not known whether or not the shot has proven fatal.

TEXAS LANDS.

We desire to say that if our Illinois friends want a section or more of GOOD LANDS, in a good country, and they will send their orders through Messrs. Peddecord & Barrows, or Warren & Durfee, we will personally see that they get choice lands. All orders received by letter or telegraph, by the 5th of July, will receive our careful attention.

We are satisfied, from the rapidity with which the public domain of Texas is being entered, that another expedition to ENTER LAND will be fruitless.

By the 25th of June, we will be fully prepared, with maps, documents, and men, to go into every nook and corner on the frontier and elsewhere, with one of the most reliable surveyors, in this or any State. Nothing but filing the scrip with the surveyor and designating the land, will secure it. The heavy immigration now pouring into these frontier counties, will soon give to every settler neighbors.

Have You Seen the Parlor Queen Piano?—If not, we say go to P. T. Locke & Co.'s, the old standard music house, No. 26 Merchant street, and see it. Mr. A. B. Dudrey and M. Bartlett, from Lake City, came here a few days ago and purchased one each of the magnificent instruments, costing $600 apiece. Do not be influenced by interested parties, but go and see for yourselves. Mr. Dudrey and Mr. Bartlett say they made a thorough examination of all the pianos for sale in this city, and emphatically decided that P. T. Locke & Co. had the best Pianos and Organs.

When you get a Piano or Organ, be sure you get one of the genuine stamp, and not one that no respectable wholesale dealer will handle in any of the larger cities.

Death from an Accident.—About three weeks ago a son of Richard Golts, aged 14 years, met with a serious accident while planting corn in a field nine miles east of this city. One of the horses he was driving stepped on a snag, throwing it with great violence against the calf of the boy's leg, inflicting an ugly, severe and, it was then thought, dangerous wound. Physicians probed the wound repeatedly in a vain endeavor to get out the splinters of wood which had become knit into the flesh, and were causing it to mortify. The little fellow endured the most acute pain for three weeks until death put an end to his sufferings.

His remains were interred at the Long Creek church graveyard yesterday afternoon.

POLICE NEWS.

Henry Brown, a tiller of the soil from a neighboring county, came to this city yesterday for the purpose of "getting on a high." Down on the "levee" yesterday he was seen beastly drunk, with a seeming indifference as to whether any or all parts of his person were exposed. He was taken in charge by officer Misenhelter, who placed Brown in the "little brown jug" for the night. This morning he brought up his prisoner and arraigned him in Justice Hughes court for trial. The charges of intoxication and unseemly conduct were sustained, and Brown was fined $3 and extras on the former charge, and $5 and costs on the latter. He left valuables enough to secure his fine and was released.

Clay Brown committed his second offense against the city ordinances yesterday by assaulting one Godfrey Thurman, a drunken man. Thurman made himself generally obnoxious to Brown, until the latter's Job-like patience was exhausted when he struck two square hits at Thurman's physiognomy, one landing in the vicinity of the right eye, and causing that organ to swell shut, and the other dislocating a tooth. Brown was arrested and taken before 'Squire Albert where he was fined $4 and costs. The amount was secured and Brown was immediately released.

The Turners' Picnic.—We noticed in our issue of yesterday the fact of a picnic being held at Weber's Grove by the Turners, and spoke of the procession that went out about 2 o'clock. Besides those who appeared in procession a large number went in advance, and were already on the ground when the main column arrived where the festivities were to be held. Two prizes had been offered for the best performers on the horizontal bar—one for the best adult and the other for the best boy performer. Besides these gymnastic performances, the company enjoyed themselves in running, jumping and other athletic sports, and also in a pleasant social time generally, the entertainment being enlivened by music from the band.

The occasion was highly enjoyed by all participating, and will be remembered with much satisfaction. The prizes alluded to are to be awarded this evening.

PETTY LARCENY.

For some time past Marshal Haworth and his subordinate officers have been watching an old man, John Anderson, and his wife, as well as other suspicious looking characters. Last night officers Denham, Brockway and Haworth saw Anderson and his wife go into Cooper's dry goods store and Busher's boot and shoe house. On leaving the latter house Anderson and his wife were secretly followed by a couple of the officers, and were seen to hide several pairs of shoes. The police immediately put the old man and his wife under arrest, and took them to Busher's store, where Mr. B. identified the property, and old Anderson and his spouse were both lodged in the calaboose.

Old Mrs. Anderson, while in at Cooper's dry goods store had succeeded in snatching on the sly and concealing beneath her garments a remnant of about seven or eight yards of calico. The stolen property was recovered by the officers and returned to Mr. Cooper.

The officers have long felt confident that the old couple had been guilty of many petit larcenies, and for days past they have been watching them closely. If the police had failed to catch old Anderson and his wife at stealing, they would have arrested and imprisoned them for vagrancy.

This morning they were brought before Justice Hughes and held to bail in the sum of $50 each, in default of which they were committed to the county jail.

..From Long Creek and parts of Whitmore township we hear very encouraging accounts of the stand of corn. It has not been interfered with either by bugs or worms thus far, and if the ground gets dry enough to admit of proper cultivation a heavy crop is anticipated.

Popular.—So popular have Dr. Price's True Flavoring Extracts and Cream Baking Powder become that but few kitchens can be found where they are not used, and their introduction to any household is the advent of new pleasures at the table and higher delight in the lighter edibles supplied by the careful housekeeper. Dr. Price has succeeded in both these important domestic necessities, in producing articles hitherto unequalled. His flavorings are peculiarly delicious, and so highly concentrated that it takes but a small quantity to impart the natural flavor of the fruit. His Cream Baking Powder should be bought only in cans, as loose powder is largely adulterated, and often sold as Dr. Price's when it is not.

MUSICAL.

Mr. L. B. Haworth has just purchased one of the finest pianos we ever saw. It is a large Square Grand, with full agraffe all through, with three unisons, French grand action, overstrung bass—in short, possessing all the modern improvements found in first-class pianos. Price, $800. It was manufactured by Haines Bros., New York—one of the largest manufactories of pianos in the United States, and the only successful competitors of Steinway & Sons and Chickering & Sons.

The Haines Bros.' pianos are represented by the old reliable firm of P. T. Locke & Co., together with the Steinway, Chickering and other first-class pianos. These gentlemen are selling largely of the Burdett, Estey, Waters and Packard Organs, the only first-class organs in the market. Their musical qualities and durability have given them a world-wide reputation. If you want a good, reliable piano or organ, go to P. T. Locke & Co., and purchase an instrument that you can call good, after ten, fifteen or twenty years' use. Every instrument represented by this firm is sold by all the leading music dealers in the United States and Europe. No "shoddy" goods are sold by this firm, and purchasers will find everything in their line just as represented. P. T. Locke & Co. are reliable, fair dealing men, which fact is fully demonstrated by the large business they are doing, showing conclusively that they have the confidence of the public.

The over-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs,—Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by no appeal to stupid prejudice or depraved tastes.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy, it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair [its] natural Vitality and Color

A dress[ing] which is at once agreeable, healthy, a[nd] effectual [for] preserving [the] hair. It restores f[aded] or gray [hair] to its orig[inal] color, with [the] gloss and freshness of youth. [Thin] hair is thickened, falling hair che[cked,] and baldness often, though not alw[ays,] cured by its use. Nothing can re[store] the hair where the follicles are [de]stroyed, or the glands atrophied [and] decayed; but such as remain ca[n be] saved by this application, and st[imu]lated into activity, so that a [new] growth of hair is produced. Ins[tead] of fouling the hair with a pasty [sedi]ment, it will keep it clean and vigo[rous.] Its occasional use will prevent the [hair] from turning gray or falling off, [and] consequently prevent baldness. [The] restoration of vitality it gives to [the] scalp arrests and prevents the fo[rmation] of dandruff, which is often so [un]cleanly and offensive. Free from [those] deleterious substances which [make] some preparations dangerous and [inju]rious to the hair, the Vigor can [only] benefit but not harm it. If wa[nted] merely for a HAIR DRESSI[NG,] nothing else can be found so desira[ble.] Containing neither oil nor dye, it [does] not soil white cambric, and yet [lasts] long on the hair, giving it a rich, gl[ossy] lustre, and a grateful perfume.
